Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 02 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Another fine and dry day before showers later.

Today:
Another fine and dry day with plenty of sunshine between the occasional fair-weather cloud. Becoming breezy at times, especially along the coast, but still feeling warm. Maximum temperature 27 deg C (81 deg F).

Tonight:
Turning cloudier and breezier overnight, with showers arriving from the south. These showers will turn heavy and possibly thundery at times, becoming largely confined to Cumbria by dawn. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Thursday:
Showers over Cumbria will gradually clear northwards through the morning. Otherwise, it will be a generally cloudy day with occasional sunny intervals too. Feeling warm, but cooler than previous days. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Fine and dry on Friday and Saturday, however feeling cooler than previous days, although still warm. A more mixed day on Sunday with sunny intervals and showers. Winds light throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.